Candidate Questionnaire (Pre-Offer)

Consent to Electronic Signatures

You have been requested to complete documents online in connection with your application and consideration for employment. During this process, you will be asked to "sign" one or more of the online documents with your electronic signature. Please read the following carefully regarding the electronic signature process.

To sign a document electronically, sign your full name with your stylus, finger, or mouse.

If you want to make changes in information you provided, contact your recruiter acting on behalf of Deloitte LLP or one of its subsidiaries located in the United States.

If you do not agree to complete this process, including signing required documents electronically, please contact your recruiter. If at any time you need to withdraw your electronic consent previously provided, contact your recruiter. NOTE: Withdrawing your consent may cause delay in the hiring process.

When you arrive at a document that requires your electronic signature, you may use the printer button at the top of the text to print the document before you sign it and/or after you sign it. You can also download the completed, signed documents by clicking on the printer button and choosing Adobe PDF as your destination printer. Copies of the documents you sign will be made available to you when you successfully complete the application process.

Once the signature process is completed, your electronic signature will be binding as if you had physically signed the document by hand.

By clicking the checkbox below, you consent to provide an electronic signature rather than a handwritten signature in connection with your application for employment and whenever you sign documents on this website relating to the application, disclosures and forms relating to your consumer report, or onboarding process.

I consent to using electronic signatures.	 Checked

Consumer Report Disclosure (Pre-Offer)

[IMPORTANT PLEASE READ CAREFULLY BEFORE INDICATING AGREEMENT BELOW]

Deloitte LLP or one of their respective subsidiaries (individually, a “Deloitte U.S Firm” or collectively, the “Deloitte U.S. Firms”) may obtain information about you from one or more consumer reporting agencies for employment purposes or in connection with your admission or service, as the case may be. Thus, you may be the subject of a "consumer report" that may include information about your character, general reputation, personal characteristics, and/or mode of living. These reports may contain information regarding your Social Security verification, verification of your education or employment history, professional licenses, or civil records searches.

By signing below, I agree that I have read, understand, and acknowledge the contents of this Consumer Report Disclosure.

Investigative Consumer Report Disclosure (Pre-Offer)

[IMPORTANT PLEASE READ CAREFULLY BEFORE INDICATING AGREEMENT BELOW]

Deloitte LLP or one of their respective subsidiaries (individually, a "Deloitte U.S Firm" or collectively, the "Deloitte U.S. Firms"), as applicable, to which you have applied for employment, may request an investigative consumer report about you from a third-party consumer reporting agency, in connection with your employment or application for employment. An "investigative consumer report" is a report that includes information from personal interviews (except in California, where that term includes reports with or without information obtained from personal interviews). The most common form of an investigative consumer report in connection with your employment is a reference check through personal interviews with sources such as your former employers and associates, and other information sources. The investigative consumer report may contain information concerning your character, general reputation, personal characteristics, or mode of living.

You have the right, upon written request made within a reasonable time, to request from Deloitte U.S. Firms (1) whether an investigative consumer report has been obtained about you, (2) disclosure of the nature and scope of any investigative consumer report and (3) a copy of your report. These reports will be conducted by First Advantage (1-800-845-6004; P.O. Box 105108; Atlanta, GA 30302; www.fadv.com).

By signing below, I agree that I have read, understand, and acknowledge the contents of this Investigative Consumer Report Disclosure.

Summary of Rights

Para información en español, visite www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore o escribe a la Consumer Financial Protection Bureau, 1700 G Street NW, Washington, DC 20552.

A Summary of Your Rights Under the Fair Credit Reporting Act

The federal Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA) promotes the accuracy, fairness, and privacy of information in the files of consumer reporting agencies. There are many types of consumer reporting agencies, including credit bureaus and specialty agencies (such as agencies that sell information about check writing histories, medical records, and rental history records). Here is a summary of your major rights under FCRA. For more information, including information about additional rights, go to www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore or write to: Consumer Financial Protection Bureau, 1700 G Street NW, Washington, DC 20552.

- You must be told if information in your file has been used against you. Anyone who uses a credit report or another type of consumer report to deny your application for credit, insurance, or employment — or to take another adverse action against you — must tell you, and must give you the name, address, and phone number of the agency that provided the information.
- You have the right to know what is in your file. You may request and obtain all the information about you in the files of a consumer reporting agency (your "file disclosure"). You will be required to provide proper identification, which may include your Social Security Number. In many cases, the disclosure will be free. You are entitled to a free file disclosure if:

  - A person has taken adverse action against you because of information in your credit report;
  - You are the victim of identity theft and place a fraud alert in your file;
  - Your file contains inaccurate information as a result of fraud;
  - You are on public assistance;
  - You are unemployed but expect to apply for employment within 60 days.

  In addition, all consumers are entitled to one free disclosure every 12 months upon request from each nationwide credit bureau and from nationwide specialty consumer reporting agencies. See www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore for additional information.

- You have the right to ask for a credit score. Credit scores are numerical summaries of your credit-worthiness based on information from credit bureaus. You may request a credit score from consumer reporting agencies that create scores or distribute scores used in residential real property loans, but you will have to pay for it. In some mortgage transactions, you will receive credit score information for free from the mortgage lender.

Deloitte.

- You have the right to dispute incomplete or inaccurate information. If you identify information in your file that is incomplete or inaccurate, and report it to the consumer reporting agency, the agency must investigate unless your dispute is frivolous. See www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore for an explanation of dispute procedures.
- Consumer reporting agencies must correct or delete inaccurate, incomplete, or unverifiable information. Inaccurate, incomplete, or unverifiable information must be removed or corrected, usually within 30 days. However, a consumer reporting agency may continue to report information it has verified as accurate.
- Consumer reporting agencies may not report outdated negative information. In most cases, a consumer reporting agency may not report negative information that is more than seven years old, or bankruptcies that are more than 10 years old.
- Access to your file is limited. A consumer reporting agency may provide information about you only to people with a valid need — usually to consider an application with a creditor, insurer, employer, landlord, or other business. The FCRA specifies those with a valid need for access.
- You must give your consent for reports to be provided to employers. A consumer reporting agency may not give out information about you to your employer, or a potential employer, without your written consent given to the employer. Written consent generally is not required in the trucking industry. For more information, go to www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore.
- You may limit "prescreened" offers of credit and insurance you get based on information in your credit report. Unsolicited "prescreened" offers for credit and insurance must include a toll-free phone number you can call if you choose to remove your name and address from the lists these offers are based on. You may opt out with the nationwide credit bureaus at 1-888-567-8688.
- The following FCRA right applies with respect to nationwide consumer reporting agencies:

  CONSUMERS HAVE THE RIGHT TO OBTAIN A SECURITY FREEZE

  You have a right to place a "security freeze" on your credit report, which will prohibit a consumer reporting agency from releasing information in your credit report without your express authorization. The security freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in your name without your consent. However, you should be aware that using a security freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in your credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application you make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit.

  As an alternative to a security freeze, you have the right to place an initial or extended fraud alert on your credit file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a 1-year alert that is placed on a consumer's credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert display on a consumer's credit file, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer's identity before extending new credit. If you are a victim of identity theft, you are entitled to an extended fraud alert, which is a fraud alert lasting 7 years.

Deloitte.

A security freeze does not apply to a person or entity, or its affiliates, or collection agencies acting on behalf of the person or entity, with which you have an existing account that requests information in your credit report for the purposes of reviewing or collecting the account. Reviewing the account includes activities related to account maintenance, monitoring, credit line increases, and account upgrades and enhancements.

- You may seek damages from violators. If a consumer reporting agency, or, in some cases, a user of consumer reports or a furnisher of information to a consumer reporting agency violates the FCRA, you may be able to sue in state or federal court.
- Identity theft victims and active duty military personnel have additional rights. For more information, visit www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore.

States may enforce the FCRA, and many states have their own consumer reporting laws. In some cases, you may have more rights under state law. For more information, contact your state or local consumer protection agency or your state Attorney General. For information about your federal rights, contact:

Certain of Deloitte USA LLP, Deloitte LLP , or one of their respective subsidiaries (individually, a “Deloitte U.S Firm” or collectively, the “Deloitte U.S. Firms”) intends to obtain information about you from a consumer reporting agency for employment purposes or in connection with your admission or service, as the case may be. Thus, you can expect to be the subject of "investigative consumer reports" obtained for employment purposes or in connection with your admission or service. Such reports may include information about your character, general reputation, personal characteristics, and mode of living. With respect to any investigative consumer report from an investigative consumer reporting agency (ICRA), a Deloitte U.S. Firm may investigate the information contained in your employment application and other information about you, including but not limited to verifying references, work history, your Social Security Number, your educational history and achievements, licensure and certifications, judgments and liens, civil records searches, and other information about you, and interviewing people who are knowledgeable about you, such as your neighbors, friends or associates, former employers, landlords, and teachers.

The results of this report may be used as a factor in making employment decisions. The source of any investigative consumer report (as that term is defined under California law) will be First Advantage (800 845 6004; P.O. Box 105108, Atlanta, GA 30302; www.FADV.com). The Deloitte U.S. Firms agree to provide you with a copy of an investigative consumer report when required to do so under California law.

- In person, by visual inspection of your file during normal business hours and on reasonable notice. You also may request a copy of the information in person. The ICRA may not charge you more than the actual copying costs for providing you with a copy of your file.
- A summary of all information contained in the ICRAs file on you that is required to be provided by the California Civil Code will be provided to you via telephone, if you have made a written request, with proper identification, for telephone disclosure, and the toll charge, if any, for the telephone call is prepaid by or charged directly to you.
- By requesting a copy be sent to a specified addressee by certified mail. ICRAs complying with requests for certified mailings shall not be liable for disclosures to third parties caused by mishandling of mail after such mailings leave the ICRAs.

Deloitte.

“Proper Identification” includes documents such as a valid driver’s license, Social Security Account Number, military identification card, and credit cards. Only if you cannot identify yourself with such information may the ICRA require additional information concerning your employment and personal or family history in order to verify your identity.

The ICRA will provide trained personnel to explain any information furnished to you and will provide a written explanation of any coded information contained in files maintained on you. This written explanation will be provided whenever a file is provided to you for visual inspection. You may be accompanied by one other person of your choosing, who must furnish reasonable identification. An ICRA may require you to furnish a written statement granting permission to the ICRA to discuss your file in such person’s presence.
